COCKTAIL SOLD IN THE GREEN ROOM TO:

FRIENDS OF TREES

Friends of Trees was founded in 1989 by Portland resident Richard Seidman. Inspired by a national Global ReLeaf program, Richard wanted to create an organization that both helped the environment and brought people together through the act of planting trees in Portland neighborhoods and natural areas. Today, Friends of Trees is a nationally recognized, regional leader in improving the urban tree canopy and restoring sensitive natural areas - through programs delivered by thousands of volunteers.

Friends of Trees has planted more than 870,000 trees and native shrubs in 120+ neighborhoods in six counties across two states. This work has been done through engaging tens of thousands of community members, while implementing and growing programming that aims to do this work inclusively and equitably.
